FAX Directories and Depository Libraries

by

The July 14, 1989 issue of Administrative Notes included a GPO survey for depository libraries regarding the availability of FAX machines. The results of the survey will be published in a future edition of Administrative Notes.* It is hoped that this information will be included in future editions of Directory of U.S. Government Depository Libraries (Joint Committee on Printing) and the Directory of Government Document Collections & Librarians (GODORT/CIS) and that this idea will be expanded by including E-mail addresses as well in both publications. The availability of this information will enhance the dissemination of government information considerably.

In New England, libraries and librarians are fortunate to have access to the New England Directory of FAX Machines in Libraries. This directory was published in April 1989, by NELINET, Inc., which provides administrative and monetary support for the Government Publications Librarians of New England.

The New England Directory lists over 200 academic, corporate, law, medical, public, school and special libraries. This includes 38 (approximately 40%) of the 96 GPO depository libraries which are listed in the October 1988 Directory of U.S. Government Depository Libraries.

Each entry provides the institution name, mailing address, contact person, FAX and voice telephone numbers, type of library, information on any FAX service charges, location of the FAX machine at the institution and the make and model of the FAX equipment.

The response to the first edition has been tremendous and NELINET, which planned to publish the New England Directory annually, has pushed up the second edition publication date to January 1990, as result of the number of revisions and new additions it has received. Since the publication of the first edition, 95 FAX machines have been added to Connecticut libraries alone! The cost of directory is only $5.00 for NELINET members and $7.00 for non-members. For more information, contact: NELINET, Inc., Two Newton Executive Place, Newton, MA 02162.

GPO's FAX directory of depository libraries is eagerly awaited. The need will remain for regional and specialized FAX directories, even though national directories are now available for purchase. It is hoped that GPO's directory will be updated on a regular basis.

1. Head of Government Documents and Microforms, O'Neill Library, Boston College, Chestnut Hill, MA 02167 and current Chair of the Government Publications of New England.
